Ivy league schools among top admissions for 113 East Africans joining this year.

quity Group Foundation (EGF), Education through its Leadership Development recently commissioned the airlift of 113 top-achieving scholars who have secured admission and scholarships to join 71 global universities located in 22 countries around the world. 13 of them are joining Ivy league universities.

The students drawn from the Equity Leaders Program (ELP) in four countries - Kenya (86), Rwanda (17), Uganda (8) and the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) (2) have secured scholarships valued at Ksh 2.8 Billion (USD 21.5) for the four -year duration of their undergraduate studies. Each scholar received an additional airlift token of up to Ksh 200,000 from EGF to support their transition into the global universities.

Speaking at the commissioning ceremony, Equity Group Foundation Executive Chairman Dr. James Mwangi challenged the students to be agents of change, leverage knowledge, values and skills they will acquire to help address Africa's development challenges.

"As you embark on this journey, remember to stay adaptable and embrace

Dedicated to creating digital jobs

Peter Kironji joined the bank in 2012 after completing his High School education at Njabini Boys High School. He started as a Relationship Officer before transitioning to a teacher in residence at Equity Centers of Excellence. Through the Equity Leaders Program (ELP) bootcamps, Peter successfully applied to study abroad and was accepted at the University of Toronto, where he pursued a degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering as a Mastercard Foundation Scholar.

After graduating in 2018, Peter co-founded an influencer marketing startup in Toronto, which was acquired just 18 months later. He then worked as a Cybersecurity Engineer for three years, gaining experience across various industries. In 2019, he co-founded a venture-backed, Kenyan-based social commerce platform that leverages influencers to help brands effectively reach markets through social media.

Peter gained valuable lessons while working at the bank such as attention to details, customer service, and managing high-pressure situations—skills that have significantly influenced his decision-making and leadership style. As a Teacher in Residence, he developed a supportive and development-focused leadership approach, guiding teams towards achieving their goals.

Currently, Peter is the co-founder and CEO of Twiva, an influencer-powered social commerce platform that helps brands access markets by utilizing social media influencers to promote and sell goods and services. The skills, experiences, and networks he gained through ELP have been pivotal in his professional journey, enabling him to successfully run Twiva, which is dedicated to creating digital and digitally enabled jobs for young people.

Young engineer thriving in Pan-African projects mentors ELP college freshmen

Racheal Kimemia is an inspiring Equity Leaders Program (ELP) alumnus who embodies the transformative power of education. As both a Wings to Fly and an ELP scholar, her journey has been one of determination, resilience, and global exploration. Hailing from a humble background, Racheal joined the Wings to Fly program in 2012 after completing her KCPE at Serene Cottage School, Kikuyu. This opportunity allowed her to attend Mugoiri Girls High School, where she excelled in her KCSE exams. She then transitioned into ELP for a paid internship with Equity Bank and the Equity College Counselling Program.

Driven by her ambition to attend a top global university, Racheal secured admission at Ecole Centrale de Nantes (commonly known as Nantes) in France, two years into undertaking her Bachelor of Business Information Technology (BBIT) at the Technical University of Kenya. She pursued a Bachelor of Science in Engineering, studying across both Mauritius and France. These experiences broadened her horizons and enriched her experiences.

After graduation, Racheal joined Norkun Intakes Limited as a mechanical engineer, registered with the Engineers Board of Kenya (EBK). Her work includes serving clients such as the Equity BCDC branches in Congo. In furtherance of her academic journey, Racheal is soon joining the University of East Anglia in the United Kingdom for a Master's program in Globalization, Business, and Sustainable Development.

Addressing this year's cohort of global scholars, Racheal emphasized the power of hard work, dedication, and seizing opportunities.

Perez shines as a person with extraordinary abilities

Perez Ogayo began her educational journey at Eureka Academy in Migori where she performed well and joined Starehe Girls Center from 2012 to 2015 under the Wings to Fly program. At Starehe, she excelled in the Kenya Certificate of Secondary Education (KCSE) exams, achieving an impressive A grade.

Perez is a Natural Language Processing (NLP) researcher and Software Engineer currently working at Oracle in California, USA, as a Software Engineer specializing in Machine Learning. She holds a master's degree in Language Technologies from Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, USA, and a Bachelor of Science with honors in Computer Science from African Leadership University, Kigali, Rwanda.

Her key achievements include: Contributing to over 15 scientific papers and presenting her research in five countries. Winning the best student research work award during her master's program. Securing a position at Oracle, one of the world's leading technology companies, during a challenging hiring period. Graduating as the top student in her Computer Science class. Completing a transformative internship at Goldman Sachs in London.

Perez recently obtained an EB-1 visa for individuals with extraordinary abilities, often referred to as the "Einstein visa." This prestigious recognition is a testament to her hard work and contributions to research, granting her permanent residency in the USA.

Garang Makech Kuol's story is one of resilience, determination, and the power of community. Born to refugee parents in the Kakuma Refugee Camp, he faced the harsh realities of displacement and conflict. Yet, against all odds, he emerged as a shining example of what unwavering belief and support can achieve. Both his parents fled the civil war in neighbouring Sudan. After concluding his KCPE at a school in the camp run by UNHCR, Garang' joined Baringo Boys High School, where he scored an A of 82 points. Speaking during the 2024 Airlift Ceremony in Kenya, Garang Makech Kuol an ELP Scholar joining Bowdoin University, USA, to study Computer Science noted, "The support network I found within Equity during my ELP journey has been instrumental to my success. There were times when doubt crept in, but the unwavering belief of the people around me pushed me forward. The Equity team's encouragement was like a steady hand guiding me through challenging moments and its incredible to think about how my life has transformed from the adversity of a refugee camp to securing my place at a world-class university. This journey would not have been possible without the support system that Equity has provided."

Best from Rwanda make airlift cut

Equity Bank Rwanda celebrated the airlift of 17 scholars who will pursue higher education at 17 top global universities. These scholars were part of the third intake of the Equity Leaders Program, which aims to empower academically gifted students from Rwanda with international educational opportunities. Each scholar was provided with an airlift token ranging from RWF 500,000 to RWF 2 million to support their transition to university life abroad.

The scholars' journey so far has been supported by a comprehensive college counselling program, including coaching on essay writing, university selection, and admissions exam preparation. Additionally, the bank covered costs for English proficiency tests and SATs, giving these students a competitive advantage in the global academic arena. This support has helped ensure their successful admission to prestigious institutions, including lyy League universities.

Since its launch in Rwanda in 2021. the Equity Leaders Program has positively impacted over 102 students, with many transitioning to esteemed local and international universities. The program is focused on developing leadership skills and driving dedication for transformative change in the scholar's communities.

DRC's highest achievers destined to greatness

Two scholars from the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), are part of the third Equity Leaders Program (ELP) cohort to receive support from EquityBCDC for further studies in prestigious universities abroad with full scholarships, supporting their development as future leaders. 403 scholars have so far benefitted from ELP since its inception in 2022.
